The image shows a page of handwritten musical notation on aged, yellowed paper. The page is numbered '2' in the top right corner. It contains ten musical staves. The first four staves are filled with handwritten musical notation. The first staff begins with a treble clef and a dynamic marking 'f.'. The second staff continues the notation. The third staff features a triplet of notes marked with a '3.' above them. The fourth staff concludes with a double bar line and a fermata. The remaining six staves are empty, showing only the five-line structure of the musical staff.
