Handwritten musical score on the left page of an open manuscript book. The score consists of approximately 12 staves of music, featuring various note values, rests, and clefs. The handwriting is in an older style, likely from the 18th or 19th century. The music appears to be a single melodic line, possibly for a violin or flute. There are some corrections and markings throughout the score.

The right page of the manuscript book is mostly blank, showing signs of age and wear. There are very faint, illegible traces of handwriting or markings scattered across the page, which appear to be bleed-through from the reverse side or extremely light ink. The paper is yellowed and has some minor stains.
