This image shows a page of handwritten musical notation on aged, yellowed paper. The notation is arranged in three systems, each consisting of two staves. The first system contains the most legible notes, appearing as small black dots on the lines. The second system also contains some notes, though they are less distinct. The third system is mostly blank, with only a few faint marks. The paper shows signs of age, including creases and discoloration.

This image shows a page of ten blank musical staves. Each staff is composed of five horizontal lines, spaced evenly down the page. The paper is aged and shows some minor staining and foxing. The staves are arranged vertically, with a small gap between each one. There is no musical notation or other markings on the page.
