The image shows the front cover of an antique book. The main surface is covered in a marbled pattern, characterized by a dense, irregular network of dark brown, black, and tan veins. A vertical strip of solid red material runs along the left edge, representing the spine, and small triangular red pieces are attached to the top and bottom corners. On the lower-left portion of the marbled cover, there is a white rectangular label with black text. The text is arranged in three lines: "Don" on the top line, "Mus. Dr." on the middle line, and "1173^b" on the bottom line.
